Ford Exhibit Loses Coins

On Friday evening, December 10th, the Henry Ford-Greenfield Village Museum in Detroit was robbed of at least $40,000 in rare coins.

William Distin, the curator of the museum, reports that all the coins stolen were on exhibit at the time.

A partial list of the coins taken follows: A complete U.S. commemorative Half-Dollar Set. All the commemorative Gold coins including the 350 slugs. A large number of rare colonial coins. A large number of rare pioneer gold issues.

Pace will publish more information as soon as available.

Should there be anything you feel would be of assistance, please contact Pace immediately. We will forward it to Mr. Wm. Distin.

Deadline For ANA Bourse

American Numismatic Association dealer-members wishing to apply for a bourse table at the 1966 ANA Convention in Chicago, Ill., must have an official application form completed and returned to the designated ANA officer on or before February 1, 1966, according to the December issue of The Numismatist.

Dealers wishing red request cards are requested to contact Harry X. Boosel, convention chairman, P.O. Box 132, Northtown Station, Chicago, Ill. 60645.

Dealers who have already received a red request card, need not write for another one, the article said.

Step by step procedure to obtain a table is as follows:

One, write the general chairman (Harry X Boosel) for a red request card.

Two, upon receipt, return this red card to Boosel.

Three, the general chairman will send an application form to the dealers returning the red request cards.

Four, fill in completely this form for bourse space and return it to the ANA officer designated thereon. This must be received on or before February 1, 1966.

Five, applicants will be notified by April 5 whether or not they are successful in their requests.

Hobby Faces Change, Needs New Thinking

NEW YORK — N.N. C. C. (Tim) Shroyer of Fremont, Ohio has had almost 30 years of experience with various organizations dedicated to the numismatic hobby, predicted enormous growth, new challenges and the need for "a new approach," in a recent interview.

"Coin collectors are not unique in talking about the good old days," said Mr. Shroyer "It seems that nostalgia blooms all over. But anyone who has been intimately connected with the hobby as long as I have, gets to admit that the field has never been more exciting or more rewarding than it is today."

Hobby Growth Brings Problems

Mr. Shroyer said that with the huge growth in world-wide interest in coin collecting during the past few years, it was only a matter of time before problems would develop. In his opinion the recent and still active controversy with legislators who blamed the coin shortage on collectors is one kind of growing pain.

"With three times as many collectors now as we had a short 10 years ago, with U.S. mint sets discontinued, with the Kennedy half, the change in metal content of our coins and similar changes, it is no wonder that so much commotion has developed. But I think things are settling down now."

Mr. Shroyer said that he welcomed the formation, on a permanent basis, of the United Coin Collectors' Alliance with headquarters in Washington, D.C. "We need new thinking to cope with today's problems affecting the hobby," Mr. Shroyer declared.

"We have many fine organizations dedicated to coin collecting but because of their very nature, none of them is precisely geared to be aggressive and to do the kind of 'watch-dog' job that is needed in face of developments like the recently proposed legislation.

"I don't think that the United Coin Collectors' Alliance, whose program is the defense of many

Greater Houston Coin Club Plans Jan. Money Show

Plans for the Greater Houston Coin Club's Annual Money show were begun before the coin market slipped into a temporary lull. Since that time their General Chairman, Don Seibert, has resigned and turned the job over to Bill Johns.

They have received several letters from dealers saying they could not attend the show this year because business is off. Those in charge of the show, are well aware of this, and are going to do everything in their power to have a good show for all in Houston.

There will be advertising on radio, television and in the local newspapers, as well as all the Coin Publications. As they are in a town with a 2-million drawing area they feel it will be a good show.

aspects of the hobby, is in any way in conflict with the older, specialized numismatic groups. They have their important functions and UCCA has its own objectives. In fact, if they all work together, and they should, they will complement each other."

The United Coin Collectors' Alliance, to which Mr. Shroyer referred, has offices at 333 Massachusetts Avenue, N.E., Washington, D.C. It became a permanent organization two months ago. The Articles of Association spell out objectives as a continuous program for "representation before legislators and government regulatory agencies on matters affecting the hobby, the advancement of the cause of probity within the field and a dissemination of information to reflect the true values of the hobby."

Gentlemen:

I read your article in the December 10th issue of Pace regarding The Nobel Prize.

Did you stop to think how many of the Nobel Prize recipients are socialist or worse? I'll name a few: George Bernard Shaw, Ernest Hemingway, John Steinbeck, General George Marshall, Dag Hammarskjöld, and Ralf Bunche. The Swedes in charge do not impress me a bit with the awards. I expect Martin Luther King stands alone as the master in his field. Apparently, the main qualification for the award is whether he is a socialist or not.

Yours truly,

Robert J. Boyd

Mr. Cashdan:

1. Hope that you can make it on the honesty of of the dealers on the "no bill" policy.
2. Check will take care of November and December and henceforth will send check monthly. I'll eat my few losses this time for not sending prompt payment.
3. Congratulations for speaking and so honestly re: Your Mexican holiday. Too bad so many of us today in this country are afraid to call a spade a spade. Bet you caught hell from a lot of people. I deliberately sold some Pace copies telling people what a really good article it was and how I was sure they would enjoy it very much.

They (some people) say a numismatic publication is no place for things political. I do not agree. When the dirty pinks and lefts play dirty then it is time for everyone who loves his country to play the game by the same tune.

Sincerely,

O. D. "Bud" Brown

in collecting habits. Three years ago it was difficult to keep a stock of cent, nickel and dime folders, which was ample evidence that the lower range of the collecting public was searching for dates and mint marks to fill every possible hole.

For the moment these holders have given some ground to the more specialized boards holding type sets and group arrangements. Holders for Standing Liberty quarters and late half dollars also have become more popular with budding numismatists.

The great upsurge in collecting interest has directly resulted in the stocking of coin supplies by department and drug stores, novelty and gift shops, five-and-tens, and nearly all book stores. One leading manufacturer of coin boards reputedly has sold more than 20 million holders for complete sets since 94, and the grand total for all manufacturers probably would run twice as many.

Most of the coin holders for complete issues are bought by collectors who are largely or partially looking for the "easy ones" in circulation. This particularly applies to the cent and nickel boards for late issues. But coin stores know the optimistic collectors will eventually need to buy the scarce key coins no longer in circulation, and the advance

COIN COLLECTOR

A Feature Column

By Frank G. Spadone

A day doesn't go by without a few letters inquiring about an oddity or mint error of interest, and not to mention long distance calls. This proves there are interested people searching for information and, that one big find. Another example of interest was the trade of my 1943 copper cent to a collector from Bristol, Tenn. I received stacks of mail daily and phone calls by the dozens, inquiries were from every state, plus many foreign countries. I must admit I had a language problem reading some.

To many who are aware of my variety-odds guide, may believe this field has always been my specialty, it wasn't. I have been collecting coins for some 25 years, the same as you, but as time passed by I found myself specializing in outstanding varieties-oddities, and mint errors. I was fortunate to discover a few popular varieties, thus time found me loaded with data in my files and my book was published.

Collecting coins offers more than meets the eye, there's friendship, relaxation, and a challenge. Among the many incidents that occurred, two similar ones stand out, they were inquiries about mint errors that were found. The thought came to mind how well known and interesting coin collecting is, when an order for my book came from an official of the Chief Joints of Staff, Pentagon, Washington and an inquiry about a Lincoln cent error oddity from the Commanding General of the 7th Army. As the TV commercials say "I don't know why they collect coins, but collectors must be doing something right."

With the new clad coins appearing on the market, action in the pointed tail 9 dime variety is stirring. Also the open AM-Joined AM of America on the 1964 P Blunt tail 9 dimes. Another good one appears of interest, a new one the "E PLUIBUS UNUM" on the reverse of the 1964 P Blunt 9 dimes has some with a missing dot between the US. UNUM.

sale of coin holders is a fair barometer of sales of the rare coins involved. In an ordinary incomplete Lincoln cent set holder, from five to 15 empty holes will be found, and by far the greater number of boards never are completed.

Canada is another country that experienced a vast coin boom with the introduction of coin holders for many rather neglected issues. Several rarities also appeared among issues minted since 1900. Uncirculated coins are exceptionally scarce among some of the rather large issues.

The average coin collector seems to tire of the same diet and constantly seeks new interests. He frequently switches from Indian and Lincoln cents to Buffalo nickels or Mercury dimes. The modest and frugal collector often is discouraged with the cost of the rare key coins going into any complete set, and suddenly decides to pursue other paths.

The more serious numismatists usually complete the full runs of late issues and switch over to new challenges. Those modern issues most commonly collected in complete sets are the Indian heads and Lincolns, Buffalo, Jefferson and Liberty nickels, Mercury and Roosevelt dimes, Morgan, Standing Liberty and Washington quarters, and the late half dollars from 1892. Any of these complete sets runs into money pretty fast, with the exception of such very late issues as Jefferson nickels and Roosevelt dimes.

Old Spanish Trail A Key Commem.

By Lee Martin

Suppose you were given permission to create a coin that would bear the portrait of a famous Spanish explorer and did not have the faintest idea what he looked. Research evidently would not help since the man in question was famous for an unsuccessful adventure and portraits of this gentleman would not have been popular during his lifetime.

The explorer to be honored was Alvar Nunez Cabeza de Vaca who created the Old Spanish Trail during his travels. The trail extended through the present areas known as Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas. This was the path of De Vaca and his crew as they roamed the new country searching for gold. This adventure occurred about 1535 and was notable only in the extent of the hardships suffered by the starving forgotten adventures. Battling through hordes of savage Indians and ultimately fever laden tropics, the story of the De Vaca crew makes superb reading for those who appreciate biographies that are action packed.

Four hundred years after the expedition, a coin expert who later became the president of the American Numismatic Association, received permission to create a coin honoring both De Vaca and the path he traveled. W. L. Hoffecker and the Old Spanish Trail Commemorative Half Dollar will always be synonymous for without him, the coin would not have been made and could not have been properly distributed.

Hoffecker created the coin during the years of collector demand — also during the year of collector suspicion because of the many coins allocated under conditions that did not promote harmony. Half dollars were made to order by political hacks who received congressional permission and then resold coins at a profit regardless of any sequence of orders. In the past and in following commemorative coins, ill will was created but Hoffecker as designer, probable originator and chairman of the El Paso museum committee which released the halves, decided to ensure adequate and fair distribution. He was very successful in his endeavors and by doing so reserved a place for the coin in the upper echelon of coin prices.

Today the Old Spanish Trail coin is still not seen in quantity and is now priced close to $300. The coins were actually placed into circulation in late 1935. Authorization of 10,000 coins was received by June 5, 1935 but some delay in minting occurred when Hoffecker consulted with a famed medalist, Edmund Senn who in turn made the plaster models that were used in the final presentation.

THE OLD SPANISH TRAIL — Now valued close to $300 but originally sold in 1935 for $2.00. This Commemorative half dollar honors the path that Alvar Nunez Cabeza De Vaca blazed in his travels through pre-United States Territory in his search for gold.

The problem of how to depict a man whose image was unknown was solved in a very novel way. The title "Cabeza de Vaca" was an honorary one given to an ancestor of the explorer for service to the Spanish King. It means "Head of a Cow." Therefore,

Hoffecker used this design of a cow's head in lieu of a portrait of the explorer. Immortality for a fierce Spanish adventurer in the shape of a placid domestic animal seems incongruous to the extreme but any collector holding the half dollar would be content to possess the "Old Spanish Trail" Commem in any design.

Today it is accorded the title of a "key" in the commemorative half-dollars and from head of a cow to head of a series seems much more appropriate.

Israel Prooflike Sets

By Maurice Gould

The Israeli Government has announced that 1966 Prooflike Sets will be ready on February 15, 1966.

The official price will be $3 per set of 6 coins.

These are the same coins which are now in circulation, but will be struck especially for collectors, with the only difference being the new date.

These coins will be issued by the Bank of Israel and are of special interest to collectors. The designs are inspired by ancient Hebrew currency, which also makes them appealing historically.

We are sure, with the experience obtained by the Government last year, that the Sets will be handled and distributed in a proper manner. There were many complaints last year as to the methods in which the procedures were handled and the way in which dealers obtained the coins, and where it looked originally there would be a tremendous interest in the 1965 Set, the original enthusiasm waned.

The Israel Government Coins & Medals Corporation, who are the distributors of the Sets, point out that in 1966 and thereafter, the number of Sets, for distribution in the United States and Canada will be regulated to meet any reasonable public demand. This sounds like an excellent idea so we will not have the immediate shortages which cause a fast increase in price and many small collectors are left out in the cold.

The Government is going to a great deal of trouble to see that the coins are well struck, that the coinage will have proper supervision, and that coins will be handled by gloved workers and packaging will take place at the correct temperature and humidity. This is to avoid such unfortunate happenings as that which occurred with some of the Canadian prooflike sets, where because of improper handling, many of these have turned color, especially the cents.

The 1966 coins will be the last to be struck at the Tel Aviv Mint as the Mint will be moved to Jerusalem, the capital of Israel, where all future minting will take place. For this reason, "Tel Aviv Mint" will be imprinted on each package, to differentiate from the future issues which will be struck in Jerusalem.

Sets are limited to 5 per person and further information of how to order and the address will be found in another section of this paper.

We look for a beautiful Set as the Government has gone to a great deal of trouble to take care of the collector. It has finally been realized that the revenue from this source is extremely important to small countries like Israel and the good-will and values given to the collecting public will bring revenue for many years to come.

Dos Mundos

One of the world's best-known coins is the famous Pillar Dollar, or Dos Mundos, as they are universally called.

These are the famous "Pieces of Eight" of pirates, adventure on the high seas, and buccaneers.

No other coin has ever circulated or been accepted in more areas of this earth and only 1800 years ago, it was legal tender in our own United States and passed current with our own coins.

When Spain was at its peak as a Colonial power, these coins were minted in Spain and the Spanish Colonies in great numbers. The Crown Pillars on the reverse refer to the Pillars of Hercules which are now known as the Straits of Gibraltar.

The coins were minted from 1732 to 1772 and are eagerly sought and collected by numismatists all over the world. They were struck at many Mints in such places as Bolivia, Chile, Mexico and Spain, and are universally collected by dates and mintmarks and this makes it more and more difficult to obtain them.

Millions of them circulated even in recent years in China and many eventually found their way to Hong Kong and were shipped from there to the United States and other areas to satisfy the constant need of collectors.

Unfortunately, most of the pieces which come from China have chopmarks on them. These are the small initials or sign of the money changers or brokers who certify that the coin is of good silver after checking it.

Occasionally small hoards have been discovered in the Philippines, Mexico, etc., but they have been absorbed quickly by collectors.

The 4 Reale or ½ dollar size are all scarce or rare and were evidently minted in smaller quantities than the 8 Reale pieces. Many were cut into sections for use in the West Indies.

The 2 Reale, 1 Reale, and ½

Reale pieces are frequently encountered, but are not common in top condition.

These coins have great prospects for future appreciation, as being legal tender in the United States until 1857, they belong in collections of U.S. dollars.

It is no longer legal to ship them from Hong Kong and most sources are drying up, so that only a trickle of these are being offered as compared to the availability in the past.

It is extremely important to See ISRAEL, Page 8

CASHDAN'S COIN COMMENTS

By Eliot J. Cashdan

We have attended many coin shows all over the United States for years. Lately, many dealers have been complaining that they have not done well at certain shows. Of course a lot of these complainers have overpriced merchandise, and some of them just do not carry what is in demand, so they would do badly wherever they were. On the other hand, many of them have a right to complain about the way that the shows are conducted. It seems that too many organizations are losing sight of the main purpose for conducting a coin show. To our way of thinking, the main purpose of a coin show is to further numismatics in the show area, and to make available to the local collector the wares of several dozen dealers at the same time. Coin shows, when well publicized, also attract new collectors and many novices. We have attended many shows that seemed to have this purpose in mind, and they all seemed to be quite successful. On the other hand, we have attended many shows in which, to our way of thinking, the main purpose of the show was to make money for the individual or the organization that was sponsoring the show. Dealers were charged what seemed to be excessive prices for display tables, and little or no money was spent on any type of local publicity. On top of this, some of these shows charged an admission fee to the public, sometimes as high as $1.00, and this certainly dissuaded many people from attending who might have patronized the dealers who came at considerable expense from all parts of the country.

It is certainly not necessary to spend a lot of money on local publicity, as a good publicity chairman can get a whale of a lot of free publicity just by contacting local newspapers, radio and TV stations, and the local chamber of commerce. Let's face the facts, dealers are not in business for fun. They don't mind traveling thousands of miles to a show to take their chances in competition with other dealers as long as everything possible is done by the sponsoring organization to bring the collectors and the public in to see their wares.

Something else that we have noticed is the abundance of coin shows in the same area. In heavily populated areas there are enough collectors to support frequent shows, but this is not the case in most sections of the country. Various competing organizations and individuals with the profit motive in view sometimes schedule so many shows that none of them are successful as far as the coin dealer is concerned. Many dealers have told us that they were going to stop making shows if some of these faults were not corrected.

Although the coin business is off slightly and prices are depressed on many items, we have attended some real good shows lately where most of the dealers did real well. There are still millions of collectors all over the country who are buying coins, and there are more people getting interested in coins every day. Although many vest-pocket and marginal dealers have gone out of business in the past few months, there are still many more legitimate full time coin dealers today than there were just a few short years ago.

One thing that helps to depress the market is when a lot of the smaller dealers are forced out of business when things get a little slow. They dump all of their holdings on the market and this tends to depress things more for a while. Conversely, when things are on the upswing, many small operators get back into the business. They have to buy some merchandise and stock up, and this drives the prices up faster for a while.

PACE is going on vacation for a week, and there will be no paper published Christmas week. Our next issue will be the January 7th issue which you should receive January 3rd. Remember, you will not receive a paper Christmas week, the week of December 27th. We would like to wish all of our readers a very happy Holiday Season.

POPPES OF THE 20TH CENTURY

We can now offer, encased in a beautiful lemon colored simulated leather holder, the Popes of the 20th Century (6). These medallions (a little larger than a U. S. Quarter) are gold plated and made in Italy.

These are truly a treasured and historical addition for all collectors.

Coin Exchange Transactions

BU ROLL PRICES AS OF WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1965

The BID and ASKED prices listed on this page were taken directly from the prices shown on the teletype, and represent wholesale prices at which coins were traded at or were offered at during the week of December 13th. Of course there are some items that had several different prices both bid and asked, and we have done our best to average these items so as to give our readers the best picture possible. We have tried to ignore ridiculous bids and offers to keep the prices true. For instance, a certain roll might be actively traded in at between $95.00 and $100.00 and we have noted many transactions around these figures. Naturally we will ignore a bid offer of $75.00 or a sell offer of $125.00 on this roll as these offers are not in line at all and would just confuse the picture. REMEMBER, THESE ARE TRANSACTIONS BETWEEN DEALERS. RETAIL PRICES ARE HIGHER.

Gold In September 1965

Prepared November 19, 1965, by J. Patrick Ryan, Physical Scientist, for U.S. Department of the Interior, Bureau of Mines, Washington 25, D. C.

Production of recoverable gold from mines in the United States rose 6 percent in September compared with August and was 35 percent more than September 1964, according to preliminary data compiled by the Bureau of Mines, U.S. Department of the Interior. Output in the first 9 months was 15 percent more than in the corresponding period of 1964.

Exports of gold in August (the latest month for which figures are available) dropped to about the year's average; but imports, mostly from Colombia, increased several-fold over July imports.

The London market price of gold in terms of dollars ranged from a low of $35.114 on August 15 to a high of $35.168 at the end of the month, averaging $35.136 for the month.

The U.S. gold stock increased $10 million in September to $13,926 million, according to preliminary figures compiled by the Federal Reserve System. The gain in September, the first increase in the gold stock since August 1964, brought the total outflow of gold in the first 9 months to $1,545 million compared with a total outflow of the estimated gold reserve to Federal Reserve note liability dropped 0.3 percent in September to 37.4 percent on September 30 compared with 45.2 percent on the same date in 1964. Preliminary data indicate that short-term liabilities to foreigners, payable in dollars, increased $660 million to $24,859 million at the end of August (the latest month for which figures are available). These dollar liabilities constitute a potential claim on the U.S. gold reserve.

Bills (H.R. 11081, H.R. 10925, and S. 2562) to preserve the domestic gold-mining industry and increase the domestic production of gold, were introduced in the 89th Congress and referred to the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs. The bills provide for financial assistance payments to domestic gold producers based essentially on the Consumer Price Index for current producers, and on the increase in production costs since 1939 for new producers.

know your dealer or know your coins as there many counterfeits, some contemporary, and one could be easily deceived. In fact, some of these pieces have circulated right along with the genuine pieces.

Whether a U.S. or foreign collector, this piece is now needed as a Type coin. If contemplating purchasing one for your collection, now is the time to do it.

Money Show

You can set up Thursday afternoon if you want.

And here might be the best news of all! They were given a much better deal on the Exhibit Hall at the Shamrock than they have ever had in the past. So they will pass the savings on to you, the dealer, by lowering the price for tables to $50.00. Those of you who have sent in your full amount will have a $25.00 refund coming. Also, dealers will have a 9-foot table with a 6-foot back-up table. They will all be wall tables, no center tables. Something else new this year — the club will have a coffee bar in the Exhibit Hall for your convenience.

Make it a point to start the New Year off right with a table at Greater Houston's Annual MONEY SHOW, January 28, 29 and 30, 1966 in the Shamrock Hilton Hotel. They still have a few tables left.

famous International Trade Dollar.

The Far 6 Canadian Nickel
The key coin and scarcest of all the Canadian nickels from 1922 to date is the 1926 Far 6 Nickel.

Evidently, this is one piece which is not available in dealers' stocks in Canada as I have noticed the price rising in the catalogs which I receive and the piece can be obtained at a lower price in the United States at present.

When the American dealers realize the scarcity and shortages of this item, their prices will probably follow in line with the Canadian.

I still do not understand why the key coins of Canada, such as the 1922, 23, 24, and 25 cents, the 1925 nickel, and 1926 far 6 nickel, the 1948 dime, and others, have been stagnant for so long. These coins have small mintages and are needed for all of the modern sets and one of these days, are bound to come back into their own.
